San Bernardino Brush Fire Under Control

Hundreds Evacuated
From Homes; City
Threatened For Time

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif., Nov. 10.—(AP)—Hundreds fled their homes in the darkness today as a fire swept by 50-mile-an-hour winds threatened much of the city's northern residential sector.

Firemen said it was almost out after a six-hour fight.

At one point, police reported hundreds of homes burning, while pajama clad residents—many of them women and children—played garden hoses on roofs. But as dawn came, only one home on a hilltop appeared a complete loss. A half-dozen others were badly damaged and spot burns and charred paint showed on many more.

A two-mile strip several blocks wide in places, but largely brushland near the foothills, was blackened.

14 Firemen Injured

The fire department reported 14 men injured as a result of the flames and the high winds. Most of them suffered facial cuts and eye injuries from flying debris and cinders.

All were given emergency treatment, and none of the injuries was described as serious.

So fierce was the wind that the paint was blasted off one U. S. forest service truck.

"Sometimes you couldn't even see the fire, the dust got so bad," one fireman related. And another observed: "I hate to think what would have happened if this thing had got away from us. The whole town might have gone up."

The sand blew in great clouds through narrow canyon pass, which leads through the San Bernardino mountains to the Mojave desert.

Police estimated that nearly 300 persons were evacuated from the region and given refuge in a school. Most of them had time to don street clothes, although a few could be seen in bathrobes.

Residents Evacuated

Police commanded city buses to evacuate the residents. Everybody was grimy with soot and sand. It got in your eyes, and you could feel the grit on your teeth.

Mrs. John Baker, whose home was saved by a wind shift, said her neighborhood was "a roaring inferno...the heat was terrific."

Police said a mile-square area was a field of flames.

Strong winds with gusts up to 73 miles an hour fanned brush blocked highways and damaged fires, tore down power lines, citrus crops.

The center of the business district of Montrose, a hillside suburb of Los Angeles, was threatened for a time by brush fires. Some 20 acres were burned over in that section.

3 Persons Injured In Rt. 30 Crash

Three people were injured in a two-car accident at 8:15 Thursday on Route 30 a half-mile west of Lisbon.

State patrolmen said the car driven by Nathan Lazar, 34, of San Francisco went off the left side of the road as he passed another car and then collided almost head-on with an oncoming car driven by E. D. Barnhouse, 27, of New Waterford.

Lazar suffered leg and arm bruises. His wife, Dorothy, 33, received multiple bruises of the body and facial injuries. John Bica, 25, of Negley, passenger in the Barnhouse car, has shoulder and neck contusions. They were treated by a Lisbon doctor.

Both cars were heavily damaged.

TINY BABY DIES

HAMILTON, Ont., Nov. 10.—(AP)—Jerris Davis, who weighed only a pound, died early today. She wasn't quite six days old. The infant, born 2½ months prematurely, was one of the smallest babies ever born alive in Canada.

Trial Unfolds Love Affair

Widow Admits Tryst With Husband's Slayer

MEDINA, Nov. 10.—(AP)—Shapely Randi Mast was summoned back to the witness stand today to tell more about her one-time love affair with the man accused of plotting her husband's murder.

The 24-year-old Norwegian girl, who had been married previously to a German wartime flier, already has sworn she conducted sexual relations with Max Amerman, 27, on one occasion.

Amerman is charged with first degree murder in the shotgun shooting of Mrs. Mast's husband, Harold. However, today's court proceedings concern Amerman's pal, Gerald Killinger, 17. Amerman's trial will follow.

Killinger is on trial for first degree murder for shooting Mast Oct. 5 from ambush outside Mast's farm home. Both Killinger and Amerman have admitted the plot but have pleaded innocent.

Yesterday, when Mrs. Mast—dressed in black, her face pale and without makeup—appeared on the stand, Prosecutor William G. Batchelder, Jr. said:

"I ask you whether or not you ever were intimate with Max Amerman?"

"Yes," she answered. "I was once. He tried a second time, but I told him 'No.' I loved my husband."

Young Killinger, she continued, knew about this flirtation.

"Jerry (Killinger) thought Max was a swell guy," she said. "He wanted me to leave my husband. Max came once and said Jerry had a notion to put dynamite in Harold's car."

In fact, she went on, Killinger acted as a "lookout" to be sure her husband would not catch her and Amerman embracing and kissing in the Mast home on a number of occasions.

Lose A Thumb? Police Find One

Anybody missing a thumb the past few days can claim it at the police department where it is being preserved in formaldehyde.

The thumb, which appears to have been torn off at the first joint, was found Thursday by a couple of school boys in a vacant lot at the corner of S. Lundy ave and Aetna st. It was found wrapped in black crepe paper inside a Starrett dial gauge indicator box, an instrument generally used by machinists.

The disjointed appendage was taken to Salem High school where Mrs. Marion Cox, a biology instructor, placed it in a formaldehyde solution and turned it over to the police.

Police believe it may have been torn from a machinist at one of the industrial plants or possibly severed in an auto accident.

Veterans Sponsor Service

City To Hold Armistice Rites At 11 a.m. Saturday

Five Salem veterans organizations will join ranks Saturday to present an Armistice day program at 11 a. m. Saturday on S. Broadway, near E. State st.

The program will be a memorial service to honor the dead of World Wars I and II and the Korean conflict. Three rough boxes will be placed on the street to represent the unknown dead of the three wars.

Participating in the ceremonies will be the local units of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Amvets, Disabled American Veterans and the Sons of Union Veterans.

The American Legion Quaker City band, under the direction of George Chappell, will play several selections. Bandsmen will sound taps and provide the echo.

Rev. Charles Huddleston will give the invocation, Lt. Hubert Knickerbocker the prayer and Rev. Fr. Richard J. Gaffney the benediction.

The Amvet, V.F.W. and Legion firing squads each will fire volleys. The color details of each veterans organization will have a part in the program.

Arranging the ceremonies are: John Herman, Jr., general chairman, and Gus Herman of the American Legion; Ralph Mancuso and Rex Reich of the Amvets; Robert Carpenter of the V.F.W. and Fred Allenbaugh of the D.A.V.

All members of the veterans organizations and all veterans who are not members of any organization are asked to take part in the service. The chairmen request that the men appear in uniform if possible.

The chairmen also asked that all church bells be sounded and all factory whistles be blown at 11 o'clock. Individuals are asked to remain silent for one minute immediately following the sounding of the whistles and bells in memory of the men and women who have paid the supreme sacrifice.

All veterans organizations and individuals participating in the service have been asked to meet at the Legion home at 10:15. The parade will form there and move at 10:30, going east on E. State to S. Broadway.

The public has been invited to attend the memorial rites.

British Ports Eyed

For Unwanted Visitors

LONDON, Nov. 10.—(AP)—Security agents flung a network around all British air and sea ports today to head off undesirable aliens bound for a Communist-inspired world peace congress in Sheffield.

At London airport seven passengers who arrived by plane from Paris—including one American—were detained and questioned for more than two hours.

Five were denied permission to enter the country and herded aboard a return plane for the French capital. The American, who was finally freed, said he was the Rev. John Paul Jones, chairman of the New York Civil Liberties Union.

Arms Impact On Industry Due In Spring

Government Orders To Be Mandatory,
Sec. Sawyer Says

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—(AP)—Secretary of Commerce Sawyer, forecasting that the full impact of rearmament will hit industry "next spring or summer," said today the government has dropped the idea of controlling production by voluntary means.

The National Production Authority (NPA), Sawyer told a news conference, will rely chiefly on mandatory orders because voluntary, industry-wide compacts "just won't work."

The secretary gave assurance, however, that NPA will try not to curtail civilian goods output so rapidly as to cause temporary idleness and slack business before military buying hits its stride.

1. The steel industry may "substantially increase" its plant expansion program above the 9-500,000 tons already assured by the end of 1952.

2. He expects the expansion to continue at the same rate after 1952, thereby bringing steel-making capacity to about 120,000,000 tons a year by the end of 1954.

3. He is confident that looming bottlenecks in manganese, iron ore and ore boats will be overcome. All are vital to expanding steel production.

Trucker Fined After Eluding Patrolmen

Robert Garman, 23, of Chicago, was fined $267 and costs on an overloading conviction Thursday by Mayor Kenneth Hiscok of Lisbon.

The fine and arrest came after Garman was involved in an accident and attempted to hide from state patrolmen.

Garman's overloaded steel truck failed to make the top of the Route 30 hill just west of Lisbon Thursday morning. He backed the truck down into a driveway and crashed into Fred Flugan's garage.

The patrolman investigating this mishap was called away but told Garman to wait for a weight-check of the truck. He and the truck were gone when the patrolman returned but he was later apprehended and fined.

Trinity Lutherans Buy Property Near Church

The Holy Trinity Lutheran congregation has purchased the property adjoining the church to the west from Mr. and Mrs. W. E. McKenzie of E. State st. and will use it for a parish house and Sunday school rooms.

The congregation's plans for the future include an addition to the present edifice which will enlarge the seating capacity of the auditorium and provide more facilities for the Sunday school.

George Dressel To Retire

Mail Carrier For 37 Years Served Under 7 Postmasters

FOR MORE THAN 37 years "Neither Rain Nor Snow, Nor Heat, Nor Gloom of Night Could Stay" postman George Dressel from his appointed rounds. But at the end of this month Mr. Dressel will pack his well-worn mail sack for the last time and on Dec. 1 retire to his garden and easy chair.

Mr. Dressel, who will be 70 years of age Nov. 13, is the dean of Salem mailmen, both in length of service and age.

His is a relaxed philosophy on his long tenure as a postman. He said, "It's been a very pleasant 37 years. A bit discouraging at times, but the people were always wonderful."

He worked as a mailman for a short while in 1906 and then taught school at Hickory, Albany and near Washingtonville for five years. He was employed at the Buckeye Engine Co. before his return to the postal service in July, 1913.

The postoffice was then on the first floor of the Moose building. As a substitute carrier, he covered every route in the city and says he knew almost every address in Salem at that time. The thirty cents an hour he received then was good pay for that day.

MR. DRESSSEL was the first carrier to receive a full-time appointment in the new post-office building. Since that time, he has been the only regular carrier on the N. Ellsworth, Jennings, West 10th and W. Second st. route.

He also carried mail for the north side of the E. State st. business district for 25 years. Full parcel post service started about the time he was given his route.

Mr. Dressel has worked under seven postmasters, Dr. F. T. Miles, Sherman Atchison, George Gee, George Mounts, Frank Eckstein, A. E. Beardmore and the present acting postmaster L. D. Beardmore.

As a carrier he has had many varied experiences with the people he knows so well. He has been bitten by dogs, but only had one quarrel in all these years. However, many times a piece of warm pie or enticing cake have been "forced" on him.

HE HAS FOUND "lost" children and returned them to their parents. He said the one thing that saddened him about being a postman occurred during the wars. Mothers and fathers would write letters daily to their sons in service and after the son was lost in battle the letters would be returned marked "deceased."

The pack of letters became awfully heavy as he trudged back to broken-hearted homes.

When letters came from boys in service, he always knocked on the door three times and the anxious loved ones always rushed for the mailbox.

He remembers now that he has never failed to go out because of weather conditions, but one day, when the snow was three-feet deep, he didn't get his route covered in one day. He quit late that night and started early the next day where he stopped.

Mr. Dressel will literally "take a load off his feet" in a few weeks. His dozens of friends and fellow workers already have said they will miss the friendly relationship of the veteran and his devotion to duty.

Linkup Occurs As Communists Rally Forces

Allied Planes Blast
New Targets Near Manchurian Line

SEOUL, Nov. 10.—(AP)—The Allies forged a steel band across north Korea's narrow waist today with the linkup of U. S. Tenth Corps forces from the east and Eighth army elements from the west.

AP Correspondent William Jordan reported the linkup was made southeast of Tokchon, in north-central Korea. It came as Chinese Communists just north of the Manchurian border continued their ominous buildup of troops—now reported at some 300,000.

Other Chinese Red forces already in Korea, estimated at about 60,000 were withdrawing into Far North Korea's wooded mountain fastness under constant lashing by Allied air power.

U. S. planes hit ten Russian-built tanks and Red transports southeast of the border.

Supply Line Bombed
Bombers and jet fighters carrying half-ton bombs smashed at Red supply lines near and south of the Yalu river boundary of Communist Manchuria.

American and Red jet fighters engaged in two flashing chases near the major Red crossing point—the northwest border town of Sinuiju. No losses on either side were reported.

U. S. jets destroyed eight enemy tanks and damaged two in Red territory south and southeast of Sinuiju. Twenty-five trucks and other vehicles were destroyed and seven trucks damaged.

The puzzling lull in the ground action continued into its fifth day. There was only patrol action and minor skirmishing.

Inland from the east coast, the U. S. Marines observed the 175th anniversary of the corps by rolling onto a plateau to within three miles of the vital Changjin power dam. It was a gain of six miles.

There was no opposition. Abandoned packs indicated the haste of the Chinese withdrawal.

S. Koreans Advance
A U. S. First Corps spokesman said the day's greatest advance—likewise unopposed—was registered by the South Korean Capital division in the far northeast—an 11-mile thrust north of Kil-chu.

That's about 75 miles south of the Manchurian border. Elsewhere across the peninsula, the Allied line was 45 to 50 miles south of the touchy boundary.

Before the Red counterattacks last week, the Allies had shoved to the border at one point and 15 miles from it at another.

A U. S. Eighth army spokesman reported the Chinese appeared to be establishing a defense line in the mountains. He added that they had taken considerable losses from aerial and artillery fire.

An estimate of some 60,000 Chinese Red troops just across the Yalu river border in Communist Manchuria was revised upward to 300,000 by the spokesman.

General MacArthur's spokesman estimated Thursday 60,000 Chinese and about that many organized North Koreans faced United Nations forces south of the Yalu in Korea.

Communist China radio broadcasts called the Chinese troops "volunteers."

The world anxiously awaited the U. N. Security Council's action on a resolution demanding that Red China withdraw its troops. The U. S., Britain and France were among the resolution's sponsors.

Views On New Ballot Differ

Aided Taft But Hurt
Ebright, Is Claim

COLUMBUS, Nov. 10—(AP)—Views were varied yesterday in comment from political candidates regarding the affect of Ohio's new office type ballot upon last Tuesday's voting.

In Cleveland, George H. Bender, Republican congressman-at-large-elect, among the sponsors of the constitutional amendment providing for the new ballot, analyzed the results.

He credited the victory of Republican Sen. Robert A. Taft to the new ballot.

However, Republican State Treasurer Don. H. Ebright who lost the governorship race to Democrat Frank J. Lausche, said he would have been elected "handily" if the old party column had been used.

He said the national Republican trend would have swept a complete Republican slate of candidates into office had the party type ballot been used.

Governor Lausche and Democratic leaders who supported him, attribute the governor's victory to the new type ballot and to his refusal to declare his preference between U. S. Senatorial candidates.

The governor refused to express a preference for either State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson, the Democratic candidate, or Senator Taft. Lausche was able to keep the labor leaders who supported Ferguson at arm's length during the campaign and as a result, they did not endorse the governor.

Ferguson said he believed the office type ballot worked to the detriment of Republican legislative candidates. He said he knew that many voters marked their ballots only for Senator Taft. Had the party type ballot been in use, he said, those voters would have marked a straight Republican ticket.

Reams Determined To Be 'Carpetbagger'

TOLEDO, Nov. 10 — (AP) — Frazier Reams, who will take his seat next January as the only Independent in the U. S. house of representatives, said today he is not going back to the Democratic party.

The white-haired Toledo lawyer has been a Democrat for 30 years and managed Franklin D. Roosevelt's presidential campaign in Ohio in 1936.

He said he had noticed he had been included in some reports as a member of the Democratic majority in the 82nd Congress.

"I was elected as an Independent and I intend to serve as one, both with a capital and a small 'I,'" he said.

While he must choose his seat on either the Democratic or Republican side of the house, Reams said today:

"If I have my way, I will sit in the aisle on my carpetbag."

This was a reference to a campaign incident of last August when Rep. Michael J. Kirwan (D-O), chairman of the Democratic national congressional campaign committee, attacked Reams as a carpetbagger and an ingrate to the Democratic party.

Reams, a native of Tennessee who never has lost his southern accent, promptly picked up the issue and made his campaign rounds totting a carpetbag in place of a brief case.

Stricter Rules For Boys State Considered

COLUMBUS, Nov. 10—(UP)—Ohio's 1951 Boys' State will not be as big as the one held in 1950 and there is some doubt that it will be held again at Camp Perry.

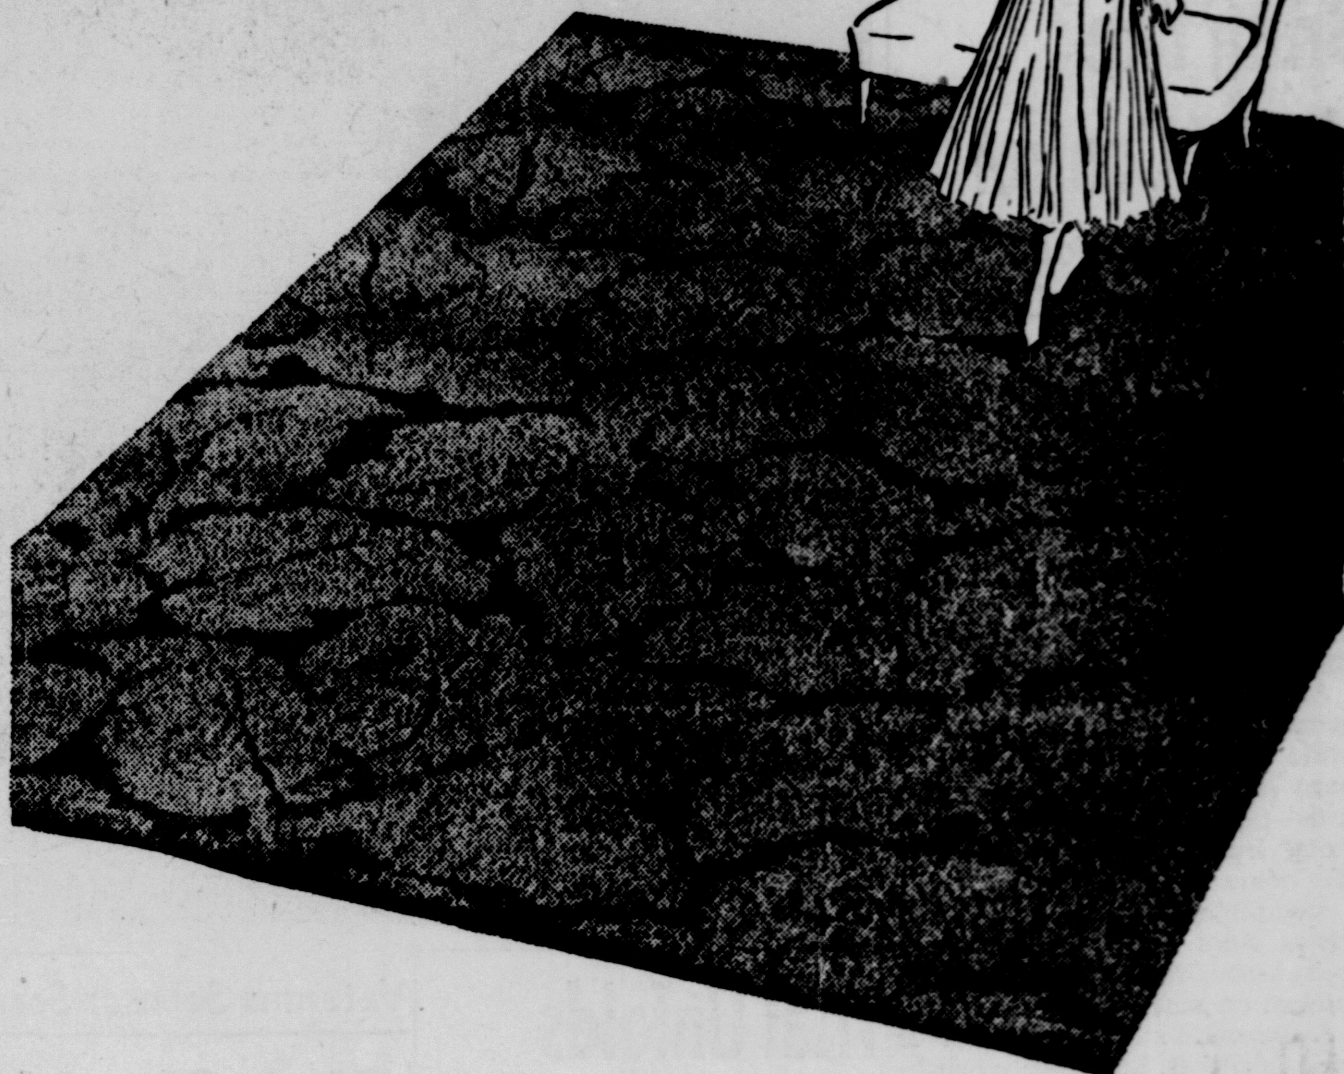

Members of the board of trustees of Boys' State, sponsored by the American Legion, have voted to clamp stricter rules on selection of boys to attend the annual event, Ohio Legion headquarters said today.

The new rules, which must be voted on by the Boys' State executive committee, would insure that the boys selected are of the highest caliber and that they are from a greater number of high schools.

PERMIT BAN TO END

CLEVELAND, Nov. 10—(AP)—The 19-month-old Ohio liquor permit freeze will be lifted or changed within two weeks, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer, quoting "informed sources close to the board of liquor control in Columbus." On April 11, 1949, the board ruled it would not increase the number of permits to sell liquor then in force.

Trapped Miner Dies In Bootleg Mine

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Nov. 10 — A miner trapped 65 feet underground by a cave-in was found dead last night by weary rescue teams who dug desperately through tons of fallen coal and rock.

John Reese, 43, was caught late yesterday by two coal falls which nearly trapped three other miners in a "bootleg" mine eight miles west of here.

The rescuers, working in relays, talked with the trapped man for two hours after the cave-in until his voice gradually weakened and became silent.

4 Rescued From Flaming Elevator

CHICAGO, Nov. 10—(AP)—Five persons, including a baby and two elderly women, were rescued from a flaming stalled elevator as fire swept through a south side apartment hotel today.

Two firemen, hearing cries under flames which enveloped the hotel lobby to the elevator. With axes, they smashed the fire glass outer door and tore off the hot inner grill to release the five from the fiery trap.

All five suffered burns on the face and arms. They were taken to the Illinois Central Hospital.

Don Ebricht's Future

WHEN a man can pile up 1,368,438 votes in a race for governor, as Don Ebricht did Tuesday, he will not be forgotten in Ohio's consideration of executive talent.

Mr. Ebricht made an excellent campaign and his heavy vote is significant. To explain his defeat, one must recognize that he had exceptionally strong opposition and that he faced a psychological barrier about which he could do nothing without the possibility of involving Senator Taft's remarkable race.

The barrier, simply stated, was the linking of Taft and Lausche together as a team, a circumstance created by Gov. Lausche in his friendly recognition of Taft's statesmanship from the beginning to the end of the campaign. There can be little doubt that this, together with Gov. Lausche's reiterated appeal for the "best man," drew countless votes to Taft.

Don Ebricht's campaign was definitely in the shadow of the national issue. Had he been elected he would have added a highly measurable quota of conservative influence in state and national affairs. But, in the re-election of Frank Lausche, Ohio is assured of good government unswayed by party blocs or pressure groups. Mr. Lausche is entitled to congratulations, not only on his victory but on the manner in which he accomplished it.

Mr. Ebricht has another turn coming to him. He has youth and resilience. He is the Republican party's logical candidate for governor in 1952 and there is every good reason to believe he will be elected.

Chuckin' Wood

IT'S EARLY for hot-stove-league material, but the nights are frosty and Grover Cleveland Alexander is being mourned at his premature passing.

Ole Pete was only 63. He stayed up there in the big leagues 19 years, longer than almost anyone else. He broke all kinds of records and was a terror to batters. And he did it without trying.

In terms of the beating he took from his bad habits he was 126 years old when he died. Yet he never was a victim of "exhaustion" during his pitching career. He never was shelved with a sore arm. He did not need any certain amount of rest between pitching assignments. In fact, he did not seem to need any rest at all.

The fragility of baseball pitchers has become a mystery. Something to do with too many vitamins and too much sleep, probably. Old Pete was tough as rawhide. Kept himself that way by never coddling himself. Chuck in another stick of wood and tell about that time he fanned Lazzeri with the bases loaded.

Who Pays The Bill?

IN CASE you wonder who pays the bill for the illusion of prosperity in a country with plenty of cheap dollars to spend, apply the U. S. government's conservative figures to the defense bond you bought in 1940.

When the drive for patriotic purchase of government securities went into high gear 10 years ago, to cover the deficit in tax income, the cost of living index was 100.2. You paid $75 for a bond with maturity value of $100 if you kept it for 10 years. You saved your money, instead of spending it.

In 1950, when you collect the amount on the face of the bond, you get back $100 as promised. But the cost-of-living index is no longer 100.2. It is closer to 175, which means that your $100 has shrunk in terms of 1940 buying power, to about $58. That is $17 less than the $75 you saved when you bought the bond in 1940.

Multiply your net loss in buying power by all the losses sustained by all the millions of savers in the United States and you know who pays the bill for inflation—

You, the fellow who tried to save his money.

W. T. Holliday, Man Of Ideas

THE DEATH of W. T. Holliday of Cleveland, board chairman of Standard Oil of Ohio and its president from 1928 to 1949, is mourned most by the employees of that eminently successful company.

But they share their appreciation of this able man of ideas with a vast public. In Ohio and in the United States his originality and his pioneering courage sparked the concept of the modern service station.

Every motorist has benefitted by his ideas.

Even so cast a business as he headed could not use up all his driving force. He helped to improve his home city. He projected his imagination and faith into many projects—better hospitals, better schools and for the last few years he had been active in the movement of a federal world government limited to the prevention of war. Ohio has lost one of its finest citizens.

Presidential Timber

By D. HAROLD OLIVER

Election Increases Stature of Some Men

WASHINGTON
TUESDAY'S elections considerably reshuffled the deck of 1952 presidential and vice presidential possibilities.

Republican victories in Ohio, New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, and California increased the stature of men who are likely either to be on the GOP national ticket two years hence or have a big voice in the selections. Conversely, Democratic defeats narrowed the 1952 field for their party by eliminating such prospects as Senators Lucas in Illinois, Myers in Pennsylvania, and Tydings in Maryland and Gov. Bowles in Connecticut.

The fact that the Republicans showed their greatest gains in the Midwest and Far West—putting in the GOP fold several states which were a big factor in President Truman's 1948 triumph—could prompt the minority party to go west for their 1952 ticket. But the picking will not be easy. Members of both the old guard and more progressive wings of the GOP made good showings in the mid-term elections, and the 1952 convention might easily be another tug of war between the Dewey and Taft followers.

AS OF NOW, the Republicans can see at least nine men who could very likely be considered for either the presidential or vice presidential nominations in 1952.

They are Govs. Earl Warren, of California and Thomas E. Dewey of New York, Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, Senator-elect James H. Duff of Pennsylvania, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts, Senator-elect Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, Harold E. Stassen, and Paul G. Hoffman, former ECA administrator.

Dewey and Warren, the GOP 1948 standard bearers, won decisive third term reelection victories Tuesday. Dewey over Rep. Walter A. Lynch and Warren over James Roosevelt.

Dewey has said he will not be a candidate for president in 1952, that no man should be given a third presidential nomination after having carried the banner unsuccessfully twice. But Dewey by his New York victory this week has assured himself control of the largest Republican delegation to the 1952 convention—a delegation that usually backs the man who gets the nomination.

Warren undoubtedly would loom large in the first choice prospects, coming from the state now ranking second among the 48 in population and having the same number of electoral votes as second-ranking Pennsylvania in the 1952 election.

Taft by his thumping victory over labor-supported Joseph T. Ferguson, Democrat, boosted his chances considerably. But he has already made two fruitless bids for the presidential nomination and there is a good chance the party might turn to some new faces.

This might lead to Gov. Duff who defeated assistant Democratic senate leader Myers. In taking the measure of the Pennsylvania GOP old guard in the summer primary, Duff said the party needed a new look.

GEN. EISENHOWER, president of Columbia University, will be in the picture despite his disavowals of political ambitions. In the eyes of political observers, only a new world war would eliminate him. Signs are piling up he may be named supreme commander of an Allied Western European defense force, but this could be a temporary one-year job.

Eisenhower said yesterday at Fort Worth, Texas, that he "could easily be in Europe soon," but he added that he had had "no positive word."

Senator Lodge, not up for reelection until 1952, is still in the picture for the national ticket. One of a small group of Republican senators who term themselves liberals, he is in the same camp with men like Duff.

Dirksen, a vote-swaying speaker while in the house, is considered more conservative. He was an avowed candidate for the presidential nomination in 1944, but withdrew at the convention and supported Dewey.

Stassen, former governor of Minnesota, in the opinion of most political observers has never stopped running for the top place on the GOP ticket, although in recent weeks he has said he probably will be found in someone else's corner in 1952.

In the 1948 convention he ran third to Dewey and Taft before withdrawing in favor of Dewey.

Paul Hoffman, just appointed to a $75,000 a year job as president of the Ford Foundation, an educational research organization, made a name for himself among members of both parties as administrator of the Marshall Plan. He might step into the picture if the rank and file, plus a few influential leaders, decided new timber is needed.

ON THE Democratic side, party leaders can call on the 1948 winning ticket of President Truman and Vice President Barkley. As second choice they apparently must think of new faces too.

With Lucas, Myers, Tydings and Bowles eliminated in Tuesday's GOP upsurge, party leaders might turn to such men as Senator Paul H. Douglas or Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois; Gov. Frank J. Lausche of Ohio; Gov. Sidney S. McMurry of Arkansas, Senator Brien McMahon of Connecticut, and Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas.

Several of these, however, apparently would have a better chance as a presidential running mate. Others, like Justice Douglas, could be removed from consideration if the Democrats accepted Tuesday's Republican victories as a partial swing away from so-called liberal policies.

Lausche won reelection by nearly 150,000 in the face of Taft's Republican victory by 430,879. He has often been mentioned for the vice-presidential spot. McMahon, chairman of the joint congressional Atomic Energy Commission, also was one of the few big name Democrats to emerge a winner.

Gov. Stevenson's term in Illinois expires in January, 1953, and Senator Douglas' present term runs until January, 1955. Gov. McMurry, just reelected in Arkansas, has a good World War II record and is in the good graces of the administration because of his successful tiltings with the southern states' righters.

'Lame Duck' Session

WASHINGTON
THE 81st Congress' final session will be the second to convene as a lame duck session since the 20th Amendment was ratified, but it will be the fifth in which "lame ducks" have legislated since 1933.

The state completed ratification in February, 1933, of the amendment to abolish the regular lame duck sessions by ending terms of Congressmen early in January. Until the reform, such sessions occurred every two years. The last regular mandatory lame duck session ended March 3, 1933.

The 80th Congress adjourned from Aug. 7 to Dec. 31, 1948. It returned to the Capital with President Truman a surprise election victor and met for only one day.

Three other Congresses sat through elections because of pressure of domestic and international affairs. The 76th sat for 58 days with lame duck members voting, as it remained in session for exactly a year after convening Jan. 3, 1940.

The 77th Congress sat continuously until Dec. 16, 1942, and was a lame duck Congress for 42 days. The 78th did not adjourn until Dec. 19, 1944, or 35 days after Franklin D. Roosevelt's election to a fourth term.

The polls have had varied influence on post-election sessions, but a lame duck senator figured prominently in the passage of a famous Constitutional amendment—the repeal of Prohibition. Action had been delayed until after the election, but Sen. Hiram Bingham (R. Conn.), a "wet" leader who then was a lame duck, pressed for the resolution that led to repeal in 1933.

Let the Cobbler Stick to His Last

Reasons For the Republican Victory

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON
MAYBE PEOPLE just tire of one party and want to try the other—but there is something far more fundamental in an election result in which nearly 40,000,000 persons vote, and that something is the characteristic behavior of the American electorate when it expresses its protest "against" things.

The election showed surprising gains for the Republicans in too many sections of the country for the result to be dismissed as a series of local contests. The protest vote was aimed at the Democratic party, which has had full responsibility for domestic and foreign policy during the last two years.

Unquestionably the fluctuating course of the administration in the Far East was held by many Republican speakers to point the finger of blame at the Democratic party. Unquestionably, too, the administration had to bear the blame for high taxes and a disturbed economy.

The McCarthy charges of Communism in the administration were not discussed by themselves very much except in a few spots but the relationship of those charges to the failure of the Democrats to carry on a thorough investigation in Congress instead of a "Whitewash" did arouse suspicion and add to the general antagonism toward the party in power.

INDIVIDUAL defeats and victories can be accounted for by failure on the part of some candidates to get started earlier on campaigning or to recognize the strength of their opposition. Thus, Senator Tydings of Maryland, Democrat, antagonized many of his constituents for failing to do a better job on the Senate Armed Services committee of which he was chairman. At the same time he lost votes because his committee report on the Communist charges was so palpably unsatisfactory to most groups except those whitewashed.

On the whole, while individual cases show local reasons for defeat or victory, the basic fact remains that something aroused the electorate to activity and alertness this time which far surpassed in intensity anything that has been witnessed in many years in an off-year election. If anything, the election campaign resembled more the crusade of 1940, when Wendell Willkie was running—only this time it was the protest vote that took on that aspect. For large segments of the voting population came to feel that survival of the free democratic system was at stake. The labor-union agitators played no small part in alarming the independent voters and causing them to forget party tradition and express a protest.

IN MANY A contest, the rank and file of the labor-union members chose not to listen to the exhortations of officers or campaign workers who tried to influence them to vote in a certain way. They considered other issues—the impact of a vacillating foreign policy, the war, the spending, the high taxes. When a number of issues become all powerful, no one economic interest prevails and outweighs the others.

So far as the administration is concerned, it really didn't expect the defeat. President Truman will be welcomed now into the ranks of those of us who make mistakes now and then in political forecasting and thus prove that no one is infallible in appraising future events in politics. Mr. Truman will not be able any longer to use his 1948 experience in predicting victory for himself to taunt his brethren on the opposite side. For he announced boastfully last week he expected a democratic landslide.

THE EFFECT of the election should be to cause the president to go into a new phase of bipartisan foreign policy operation—wholeheartedly instead of intermittently. The country is worried about the Korean crisis and the boldness of the Chinese Communists and wants the administration to stop indicating that it is afraid of the Reds. It doesn't want bluster but it does want firmness. The elections may reflect that kind of mandate.

Certainly the European press is all wrong in assuming that there is coming a return to isolationism or a cutting off of financial expenditures there and a little more firmness in insisting that European countries do more to help than they have done to date.

One more thing can be asserted in interpreting the results. The doctors got busy and fought the administration on its socialized medicine program. The farmers got busy and fought the Brannan plan. The day of the "welfare state" in the sense of the "hand-out state" is coming to an end as a political asset. High taxes and a lack of confidence in the national administration are basic reasons for the Republican gains in both houses of Congress.

Sinuiju

By HAL BOYLE

U. S. Bombers Destroy City

NORTH KOREA
EVER SEE a city die? In this age of power, and, speed, the death can be as swift as it is terrible.

That was the way it was at Sinuiju. Yesterday it was a city of 100,000 lying on the Korean side of the Yalu river bordering Manchuria.

It was noon when the growling rumble of the approaching U. S. Superforts gave the first warning of doom.

By 12:30, 90 per cent of this Communist nest lay in ruins. It was ripped and burned by more than 600 tons of fire bombs and high explosives.

My window for this awesome show was a plexiglass canopy of a training version of the F-80 Shooting Star jet.

It was piloted by Capt. William J. Evans, Norwich, Conn., aide to Maj. Gen. Earle E. Partridge, U.S. Fifth Air Force commander.

Flying between 500 and 600 miles an hour, this was what we saw:

The land lay wrinkled and brown. To me the whole situation seemed like a nightmare out of childhood.

BECAUSE THERE below me was a river named the Yalu—boundary between North Korea and Communist China's Manchuria. But it could also be called the Kaw.

The Kaw is a river that divides two states and two cities, but not two worlds. The Kaw is a mighty tributary of the Missouri river that separates Kansas City, Mo., from Kansas City, Kan.

The Kaw is a river I have known since birth. I still have a mother living on one side and a brother on the other side of the Kaw.

There may be relatives on either side of the Yalu, too. We know there are two towns that reach and touch each other across the river there.

One is the openly enemy Korean city of Sinuiju. The other is the peaceful, prosperous metropolis of Antung, a Manchurian city from which the enemy has by day flown Soviet-made warplanes across the border into combat against American fliers.

And by night over the bridge that leads from Antung to Sinuiju have come, American intelligence officers report, elements of perhaps six Chinese divisions.

WE CAN ATTACK Sinuiju, but we cannot go on across the winding, snake-like Yalu to attack Antung because it is Manchurian. The fighters and bombers of the far eastern air forces observe that distinction as accurately as a surgeon who has to make a sudden, life-saving incision.

It was a delicate and demanding but very necessary thing that those bombers had to do. They swam slowly through flak to kill this town of Sinuiju, the focus point for the enemy.

They had to stay within a narrow line to do it. They did it with the skill of any other artisan who knows his tools and his trade.

At 12:07 the first flight of B-29 Superforts let go with what they had brought. The bombs fell at the northeast edge of the city. Flight by flight the bombers let go. Step by step the city below was destroyed.

The clay walls fell apart in the heat. The straw roofs burned. The wood flamed. And the people died or fled.

Taft's Status Stronger Now

'Mr. Republican' Gains New National Respect

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 — (AP)—Before the election they were calling Senator Robert A. Taft "Mr. Republican." You can underscore that now.

No candidate came out of Tuesday's voting with a bigger gain in personal prestige than did the Ohio senator.

It was not only that he won. It was the way he did it—taking 84 out of 88 counties, carrying some industrial areas which hadn't gone Republican for 20 years, running up the biggest vote a senate candidate ever got in Ohio.

And all this against the combined opposition of organized labor and all the aid the Truman administration was able to give his Democratic opponent, Joseph T. Ferguson.

In '52 Picture

It put Taft's shadow larger than ever in the 1952 presidential picture.

And it strengthened his position as the real leader of the opposition in congress to those policies of President Truman which Taft and others have fought as "socialistic."

As to the presidency, Taft's friends can now roundly dispute a contention advanced against him in 1944 when Taft unsuccessfully sought the G.O.P. nomination. This was that he was no vote getter.

The unofficial count of Tuesday's vote gave Taft 1,642,537. The most votes a senatorial candidate ever got in Ohio before was in 1940 when Harold Burton (now justice of the Supreme Court) received 1,602,567.

Taft's plurality in the unofficial figures was 430,879 that compares with 17,999 when he squeaked through in 1944 and 170,597 when he was elected in 1938.

What kind of campaign did Taft make?

Campaign Figures

Lou Guylai, publicity director for the campaign, kept some statistics. His figures:

The campaign really began in May, 1949. Taft made 420 speeches in 1949 and 453 in 1950. He was on the radio 62 times the first year and 80 in the second.

Near the end of the campaign, Taft made 25 television broadcasts. "It proved to be a very good medium."

During 1949, Taft toured Ohio and visited 224 plants; this year he visited 110.

He spoke personally with 350,000 persons in 1949 and 400,000 this year.

Republicans Poll 52 Percent Vote

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 — (AP)—Republican candidates in the aggregate polled slightly more than 52 per cent of the off-year record total of over 40,700,000 votes cast Tuesday.

The figures are based on state totals which are still incomplete in most states. Even so, they show that at least 40,727,213 ballots were cast.

The previous peak in a non-presidential year was 37,304,380 in 1938. The figure in 1946 was 35,874,568 and in 1942 it was 30,024,927.

The Associated Press compilation used the highest vote in each state. In most instances that was either for governor or senator.

Republicans outvoted the Democrats 21,049,778 to 18,684,129 — or approximately 52.3 per cent to 46.3. In the 1948 presidential election, Democrats polled about 49.3 per cent of the total and the Republicans about 45 per cent.

Most states have not completed tabulation of minor parties' votes cast Tuesday. Those which had, credited minor parties with 598,118. Added to the major party votes, that made 40,332,025.

ARMS AND THE MAN—Acting Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri raises his arms above his head to give a victory handshake at his election headquarters after he was conceded the mayoralty of New York. Impellitteri, running on the Experience ticket, became the first man in New York history to win the mayoralty without the backing of the Democratic or Republican parties.

Berserk Husband Wounds 1, Kills Self

WILLARD, Nov. 10—(AP)—Mrs. Emma Martack, 60, was in critical condition at Municipal hospital today, wounded by a railroad engineer who went berserk and later killed himself.

Mrs. Vernon A. Allbaugh said her husband had appeared nervous when he woke up yesterday. Later he threatened her and their landlady for several hours with a .22 caliber target pistol, she said.

The wife slipped out of their house and called for help but by the time police arrived the Baltimore & Ohio railroad employee was dead and Mrs. Martack was wounded in the head.

TV NOT AFFECTED

NEW YORK, Nov. 10—(AP)—The telephone has not impaired radio and television broadcasting, and is not expected to, spokesmen for the networks and the American Telephone and Telegraph Company said last night.

A Few Yellow Pills

A RECENT DEVELOPMENT in medical research is said definitely to cure malaria, long a scourge in certain sections of the country. Three small pills a day for five days and symptoms disappear. It is also claimed that four pills a week during the malarial season will serve to prevent the malady. All of the fruits of medical research are available to you through your family physician. He should be your sanctuary in case of illness, your protection against the wiles and artifices of the unprincipled peddler of nostrums.

Two Deputies Of Guilford Grange Feted

MR. AND MRS. W. A. Morris, grange deputies, were honored Monday evening with a surprise banquet at Guilford grange hall when 190 members of county grange gathered to celebrate the progress of the organization in the county and to honor the deputies.

Paul Dowling of Kensington, master of Pleasant Valley grange, was the master of ceremonies.

Joseph W. Fichter, Ohio State Grange master, gave the main address. He presented Mr. Morris a gold pin in recognition of his grange service.

Grange Grows

Mr. Fichter pointed out that grange growth in Columbiana county has been quite rapid. Almost 900 new members in the last two years have brought the membership to 4,146.

The Grange Conservation Air Tour and the grange broadcasts over Radio Station WOHL, East Liverpool, each Saturday were cited as important milestones in grange history.

Another highlight was the state grange meeting at Carrollton when Columbiana county presented 223 candidates for the sixth degree. This was the largest class from any county in the state.

Mr. Fichter stated, "It is a gratification and an inspiration to come to a meeting when such a fine spirit of fraternalism and good-will are paramount, and it is gains like this that has built the grange membership in Ohio up to the first place in the nation." The Ohio membership is now 144,100.

Presents Gift

Mrs. Orveda Fichter, state juvenile superintendent, despite a broken ankle and on crutches, traveled from Columbus to attend the banquet and present a gold pin to Mrs. Morris for her outstanding juvenile work.

Mrs. Fichter said Mrs. Morris would be further honored at the state meeting at Toledo next month since Mrs. Morris has organized the largest number of juvenile granges in any county in the state.

Mrs. Fichter stated that juvenile membership, under Mrs. Morris' leadership, had grown from 266 to 523 during 1949 and 1950, and the number of juvenile granges from 10 to 15. Ohio leads the nation in juvenile granges, with a membership of more than 12,000.

Makes History

James Rhodes, master of Guilford grange, presented Mr. and Mrs. Morris an envelope containing a cash contribution from county granges in grateful recognition of their work.

Mr. and Mrs. George Townner, Portage county deputies, and Mrs. Edythe Amstutz, deputy from Mahoning county, were present. With two exceptions, every grange in the county was represented.

Grange leaders said this is the first time in the history of Ohio granges that a recognition banquet of this kind has been held.

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Chisholm of E. Fifth st and Mrs. J. W. Hundertmark of W. State st were in Youngstown today to attend the funeral of Mrs. Catherine L. Boyle. Mrs. Boyle was an aunt of Mrs. Chisholm.

PEEL BACK SPUD CROP—

As Newschart at right shows, Uncle Sam has told potato growers they must clip their crop next year by 21 per cent so prices won't be forced down. Price might drop because Congress has ruled against Uncle Sam buying up surplus crops and destroying them or selling them to stockmen or alcohol producers at token prices. Below, farmhand at Shamong, Pa., shovels into containers potatoes dyed by the government to prevent human consumption.

63 Congressmen Are Freshmen

21 In 82nd Served Previous Terms

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10—(AP)—Only 63 members of the new senate and house convening next January will be congressional freshmen in the true sense of the word.

Although 84 new senators and representatives were elected last Tuesday, 14 of those chosen for the house and 7 for the senate have had previous congressional experience.

The new crop of house members constitutes one of the smallest groups of freshmen, even including those with past service, in recent years. The present Congress started out with more than 100 new house members alone.

Seven of the new senators have served in the house. The same number went from the house to the senate two years ago.

New senators-elect who cut their legislative eye-teeth in the house are George Smathers of Florida, Richard M. Nixon of California, Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, Frank Carlson of Kansas, Earle Clements of Kentucky, Mike Monroney of Oklahoma and Francis Case of South Dakota.

All except Dirksen and Clements are now house members. Clements is governor of Kentucky; Dirksen retired two years ago for health reasons.

The 14 new house members with previous house experience are J. Edgar Chenoweth (R-Colo.), Horace Seely-Brown (R-Conn.), Richard B. Vail (R-Ill.), Fred E. Busbey (R-Ill.), Howard Buffett (R-Neb.), John J. Dempsey (D-NM.), John C. Butler (R-NY.), William E. Hess (R-Ohio), George H. Bender (R-Ohio), John J. Riley (D-SC.), William J. Bryan Dorn (D-SC.), B. Carroll Reece (R-Tenn.), Charles J. Kersten (R-Wis.) and George Schwabe (R-Okla.).

All of them except Dempsey, Reece and Dorn replace the men who knocked them out of the seats they held in the 80th Congress. Together they form one of the largest house "comeback" blocs in recent years.

Farmhand Discovers New Uranium Supply

ERBACON, W. Va., Nov. 10—(UP)—Ira K. Carpenter, odd-jobs farmhand, told friends today how he stumbled upon an "abundant deposit of uranium" while digging a cistern on a 44-acre farm near here.

The 60-year-old farmer who studies minerals as a hobby, said he has received a letter, from the Atomic Energy Commission confirming his find of several months ago.

Uranium, key ore in the manufacture of atom bombs, has been found in only two other states—Colorado and Michigan.

Friends quoted Carpenter as saying he came across a "peculiar-looking piece of heavy ore." He said he forwarded the specimen to the AEC on a hunch and was gratified at the result.

Store-owner William McQueen said Carpenter told him that he expected to receive a $10,000 bonus for his discovery and its disclosure to the Atomic Energy Commission.

Vote Adjustment Makes Race Closer

DETROIT, Nov. 10—(AP)—Michigan's governorship vote race became even more spectacularly close today.

Late adjustments in the count of ballots from Tuesday's election reduced former Gov. Harry F. Kelly's lead over Governor G. Mennen Williams to less than 2,000.

It appeared certain that only the official canvass would decide the winner with a recount then possible.

On the heels of the discovery of a 3,000-vote error in Wayne (Detroit) county's vote, official county tabulations and recounts of unofficial returns brought in more discrepancies.

The picture was heavily clouded. Republican Kelly's lead over his Democratic rival was reported ranging from only about 1200 to 1500.

Relief Workers Fired After Election

STUEBENVILLE, Nov. 10—(AP)—Three relief investigators have been fired by Jefferson county commissioners who say they persuaded non-citizens and mentally ill clients to vote Tuesday.

The investigators were accused by R. E. Parks, board chairman, of telling an unspecified number of clients they would lose their jobs if Commissioner George Huscroft were reelected and then taking absentee ballots from the clients.

Huscroft, a Republican who was defeated, took files from the relief office after the firings and asked a common pleas court judge to impound them until a probe is completed.

The investigators were Mrs. Ruth Smith, Mrs. Belle Burdick and Mrs. Agnes Leonard, all Democrats.

By law, mentally ill persons and aliens are prohibited from voting.

The Modern Farm Apple Market Good In 1950

Price Ranges From $2 To $3 A Bushel

"APPLE PRICES are fair and the marketing situation is better than last year," W. H. Matthews, retired orchardist, said today.

The prices vary from $2 to $3 a bushel according to the size, variety and packing, and the marketing value is improving as the season progresses, Mr. Matthews said. "Good apples in cold storage will sell for higher prices by the first of the year," he added.

The orchardist said the 1950 crop is "not much more than 50 percent, with the Rome Beauty variety being nearly a full crop and the Stayman and Jonathan varieties doing fairly well."

Mr. Matthews attributed the present apple prices to the seasonal slump and to the selling of large quantities by smaller growers who have no place to store them.

Although the invasion of the red mite in this district reduced the color and size, the apple crop, which was late in blooming, was enhanced by the long fall, allowing the size and color to return to near-normal, the orchardist stated.

Apples are still one of the cheapest fruits and their food value is excellent. Those selling for about $2 a bushel are only about five cents a pound, he said.

ABOUT ONE-THIRD or less of the corn crop has been picked in this area," Galen Greenisen, Dept. rd farmer, announced today.

Mr. Greenisen said a lot of the corn is not dry enough to be harvested and the crop's season was extended since frost did not hit this area until rather late.

Some farmers have already put their cattle in the barn for the winter, while others are keeping the animals in only part of the day, Mr. Greenisen said.

A portion of the farmers have opened their silos. "Winter wheat is looking very good," he added.

WITH 614 POUNDS of butterfat and 14,993 pounds of milk testing 4.1 percent to her credit, Carodale Mistress Nancy, registered Holstein-Friesian cow owned by C. T. Shreve of Damascus, has completed a 365-day production test in Herd Improvement Registry.

Ohio State university conducted the test in cooperation with the Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

Mrs. Orland Baker entertained "500" club associates at her home south of Lisbon, Wednesday evening.

Officers' Chow
Costlier In Korea

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—(AP)—The Army is slightly embarrassed about it but American officers in Korea—even those on the front lines—have to pay more for meals than those on duty in the states.

The cost of chow in the Korean theater has been raised from 35 cents to 40 cents a meal for everyone from shavetail lieutenant to high brass general.

Stateside meals at Army posts still are 35 cents. The reason given by the Army is that food transportation costs from the U. S. to Korea made the five-cent boost necessary in Korea.

Enlisted personnel do not pay for their chow but the officers' monthly food bill is deducted from a special $42 a month allotment given them for meals. When on duty in the states and not eating at Army mess halls, officers are permitted to draw the $42 allotment in cash.

"The party must plan its future," Stassen said, "from all the Republican results across the nation. I think Taft's success was meant as a vote to halt President Truman's socialistic program and it indicates that labor leaders should go back to being labor leaders and not politicians."

Columbiana

Football Team
Will See GameBoosters Sponsor
Trip To Columbus

COLUMBIANA, Nov. 10—Final arrangements were made at the November meeting of the Boosters club in Pavilion 4, Firestone Park, Wednesday evening for the annual trip provided by the club for the Clipper football squad and cheerleaders. The trip this year will be to Columbus Saturday for the O. S. U.-Wisconsin game. Members of the club and school faculty are providing transportation.

Nine cars will leave the high school at 7 a. m. tomorrow, with five passengers each besides these drivers: Superintendent H. F. Richmond, Principal D. W. Bailey, President Grant Bevington of the Boosters, Everett Warrick, Art Rohrer, William McGuckin, P. R. Corey, Coach James W. Hall and George Griener. The caravan will return Saturday evening.

President Bevington appointed a nominating committee to report at the next meeting, scheduled for Dec. 13, when the annual election will be held. The committee is Walter Simpson, Roy Guy and William Allen.

The minstrel show contemplated for this fall or early winter has been postponed until after the close of basketball season next spring.

NORBERT KIRKNEK, Youngstown interior decorator, was the speaker at a meeting of the Grade School Mothers' club in the home economics room of the high school building Wednesday evening. There were 90 in attendance for Mr. Norbert's talk on fabrics, of which he showed a number of samples. Mrs. K. P. Murphy was program chairman.

Preliminary plans were made for a candy sale in December, and members were asked to save their sales tax stamps for the club. Nellie Koch's first grade room will receive the treat for having the largest percentage of mothers present at the meeting.

The next meeting, at 7 p. m., Monday, Dec. 18, will be a Christmas party, with a program especially for the children. It will conclude with open house to afford parents an opportunity to view the decorations in rooms of the high school building.

MRS. ZELDA Rogers of Co-

ON DEFENSE BOARD.—Appointed Assistant Secretary of Defense is Mrs. Anna M. Rosenberg, 48, above. A long time "New Deal" government career woman, Mrs. Rosenberg will take the post now held by Paul H. Griffith who submitted his resignation soon after his friend, Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson, was ousted.

Columbiana gave a review of the book, "We Follow Our Stars," at the November meeting of the Columbiana Music Study club, held Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Thomas D. Watt, of North Main st. Other features of the program, arranged by Mrs. George Weaver, included piano numbers by Robert Cline and Shirley Wells and vocal numbers by Mrs. Robert Maurer.

Twenty-four were present at the meeting. In the absence of Mrs. C. E. Bender, associate hostess, Mrs. Sam Belief was assisted in serving by Mrs. Paul McNab, Mrs. E. T. Coyle and Mrs. Eva Roller.

The next meeting will be held Wednesday evening, Dec. 13, and will be a Christmas party at the home of Mrs. Coyle of North Main st.

Columbiana Briefs:

The Salem Women's Bowling association will meet at Eagles' hall, East Palestine, at 7:30 p. m., next Tuesday. Plans will be made for a district Christmas party.

C. E. Bender of Duquesne st., former superintendent of Columbiana schools, who has been ill for some time, was removed Wednesday to Salem City Hospital where he will be placed in an oxygen tent.

The Columbiana community Thanksgiving service will be held in the Methodist church at 8 p. m., Wednesday evening, Nov. 22. Rev. Waldo J. Bartels of Grace Evangelical and Reformed church will preach.

Circle II of the Presbyterian Women's association will have a covered dish dinner at the church at 6 p. m., Thursday, Nov. 16, each member to take covered dish and table service. The meeting will follow the dinner.

The Columbiana Clippers will conclude their season schedule with the game at Firestone Park stadium this evening. East Palestine will be their opponent.

Judge Raps Gambling; Blames Mayor, Sheriff
STUEBENVILLE, Nov. 10 — (AP)—Judge Arthur L. Hooper says there are two ways of getting rid of gambling in Jefferson county.

The judge of common pleas court told the Steubenville Ministerial Association last night gambling could be stopped by either voting Mayor Walter Sterling of Steubenville and Sheriff Clarence Eberts out of office or having them impeached.

Sheriff Eberts had no comment on the judge's assertions and the mayor could not be reached.

List New Winners

CLEVELAND, Nov. 10—(AP)—Tabulations completed early this morning by the board of election in Cuyahoga county showed the election of one more state senator and three more state representatives.

The other 14 representatives and five senators elected from here had been announced earlier. Elected to the senate was John A. Corlett, a Republican.

Elected to the house were K. W. Thornton (R.), Mike M. Sweeney (D) and Richard H. Woods (R).

82,000 To See Ohio Tangle With Wisconsin

Bucks Seeking Sixth Victory

Fesler's Team Holds Big Statistical Edge

By FRITZ HOWELL
COLUMBUS, Nov. 10—(AP)—They have identical five-win one-loss records, but if Ohio State doesn't defeat Wisconsin in the Big Ten's top tilt, you may as well throw away the form sheets for future frays.

Comparative scores say the Buckeye pack of point producers are a cinch. But more than 82,000 fans—third largest crowd ever to overflow the Ohio horseshoe—will be on hand to watch 'em prove it.

The Badgers are snapping at Ohio's heels in the Western Conference race, and if Wisconsin can engineer an upset it is Rose Bowl bound.

Wisconsin will throw a 189-pound line against Ohio's 212-pound defensive forward wall which has held six foes to an average of 62 yards on the ground, and the 23 pounds per man—especially when the lines are evenly matched in speed—provide a hefty edge.

UNDOUBTEDLY the Badgers will take to the airways, with Johnny Coatta doing the pitching. The Buck pack defense is atrocious, according to Ohio Coach Wesley Fesler, but the Rose Bowl champs have intercepted 18 enemy aerials in six games.

Coatta is leading the conference passers with 34 completions in 55 attempts, and no Big Ten defender has snared one of his tosses. But he's expected to get little time to aim his shots Saturday before the big Buck line gets to him.

Ohio, blessed with a speedy, versatile ball-carrying and ball-tossing corps headed by brilliant Vic Janowicz, has proved its ability to turn breaks into touchdowns with amazing regularity. Saturday's foes have beaten two common opponents, Iowa and

Henrich Ready For Baseball Retirement

RIDGEWOOD, N. J., Nov. 10—(UP)—Tommy Henrich, the Yankee outfielder-first baseman who turned down a minor league managerial post, was perfectly willing today to settle for a job in private industry if he cannot play baseball any longer.

Henrich, whose active baseball career appears at an end because of an ailing left knee, revealed that he will go into the beer distributing business in New Jersey with another partner.

However, the 33-year-old veteran said that he would like to remain in baseball in some capacity, preferably with the Yankees, for whom he has played since 1937. He didn't indicate what he wanted after refusing a managing job in the Yankees' farm chain.

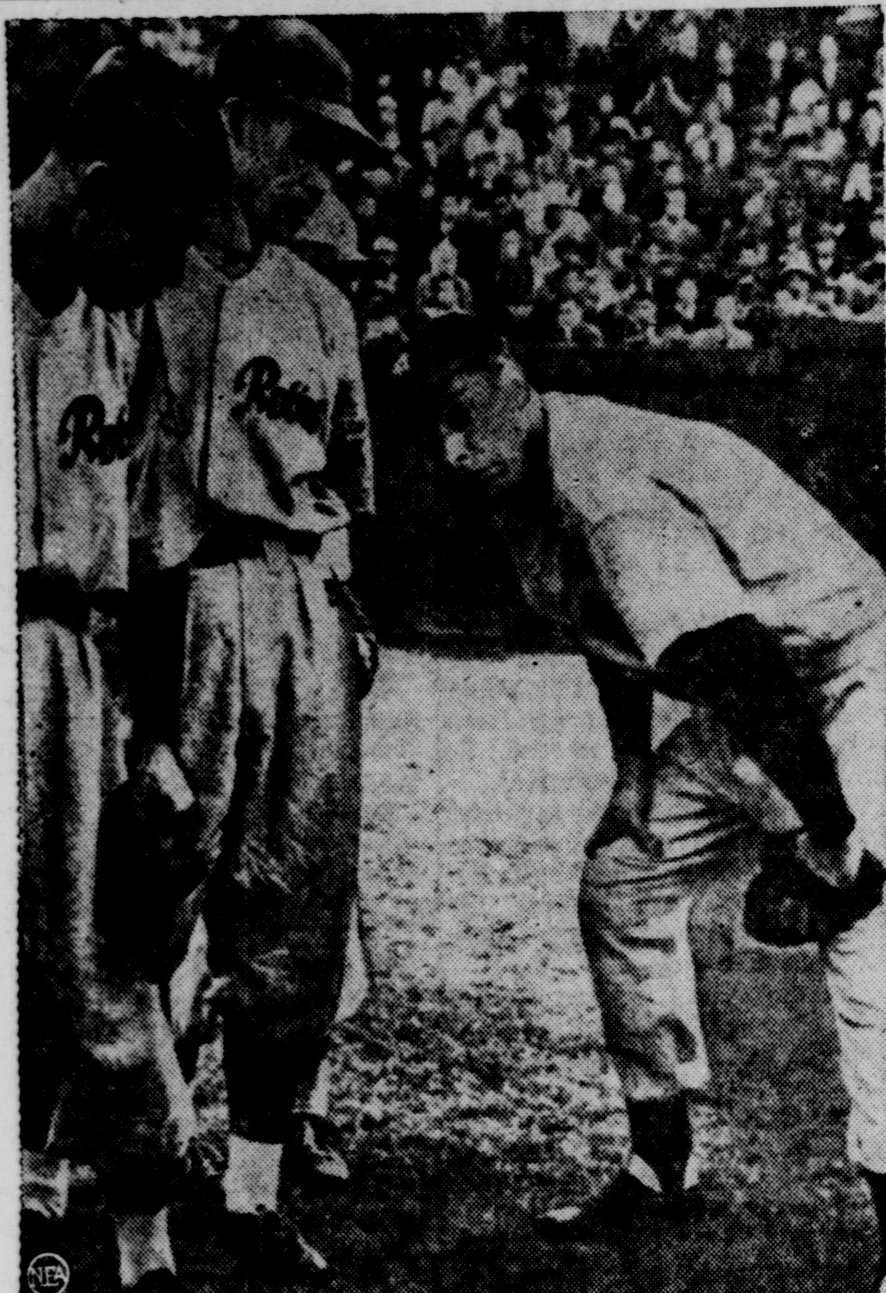

Northwestern. The Badgers did it by a combined score of 28 to 13, while Ohio was under wraps in downing the duo 115 to 21. The Bucks are averaging 43 points a game to Wisconsin's 18.

The Badgers have two one-point victories, over Illinois and Northwestern, while no one has come close to the Bucks since SMU came from far behind to nip 'em 32-27 in the opener.

ON THE ground Ohio has moved 1307 yards in 307 rushes, to 807 yards in 247 rushes for the Badgers. The Bucks have completed 57 of 117 passes for 981 yards, and Wisconsin has connected on 61 of 114 for 732 yards. That gives Ohio an offensive edge of 2288 yards to Wisconsin's 1749 in the same number of games.

While Ohio has been intercepting 18 passes, Wisconsin has gathered in half that number. The Badgers have recovered 12 enemy fumbles, and Ohio has grabbed 24.

Arrayed against Ohio's "paper" superiority in weight, ground defense, all-around offense and scoring ability, is the fact the Bucks have never beaten the Badgers three straight since the series opened back in 1913. Ohio has won the last pair, 34-32 in 1948, and 21-0 a year ago.

LIKE THIS—Joe DiMaggio not only thrilled Tokyo fans with long line drives, but showed Japanese players the way the game is played in the American League. Here the Yankee Clipper demonstrates how to get the jump on a ball in the outfield.

Life Magazine Plans To Attend Game Here

By BOB DIXON

Those who have read Life Magazine's weekly feature "Life Goes To A..." in which the magazine pictorially covers a party, picnic, dinner, dance or some other function, will be interested to learn that Life is coming to Salem on November 26.

The national magazine is covering an event here which is not well-known to Salemites, but it is unique enough and zany enough to attract the attention of Life.

It is a football game and a bowl game, at that. It is the ninth annual "Commode Classic" grid contest, a hard fought affair which is contested yearly by two Salem men with terrific imaginations.

THE PRINCIPALS in the thing are Horace K. Schwartz of 969 S. Lincoln ave and Don E. Beattie of 1412 Cleveland st, presently working in Ashland as sports editor of the Times-Gazette there.

The account of the pair's elaborate football contest last Christmas was carried on this page, but for those with faulty memories, the details of the yearly contests are herewith reviewed. The two Salemites ran across an intriguing football game, played on a charted board with dice and started playing each other friendly contests. They eventually settled on three games each year—at Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's Day. Each tilt was given a bowl name. They bought suitable trophies for each bowl and the things have revolved between the two participants down through the last nine years.

Schwartz's team is called "Schwartz School of Chiroprody" and Beattie's is "Blue U." The teams are bitter rivals and, as Ben Barrett might say, are always "up" for each other.

AS THE games continued each team, when it was the home club, would add a few touches here and there to make the game more interesting. Pennants and streamers decorated the houses of the two men, and one brought in a make-shift band to play. Spectators were invited and came in big numbers. Finally both Schwartz and Beattie have taken to wearing football uniforms and using a uniformed referee at their games.

(It gets sillier, but stay with us.)

Last Christmas was the topper. Both men brought in bands, Schwartz bringing his to the game in a chartered bus while he himself was clad in a striking crimson grid uniform. Beattie reveled a half-forgotten talent for drum majoring as he led his own band.

More than 80 "fans" attended the game at the latter's home. The entire event was transcribed for posterity on a wire recorder. Two Salem doctors were on hand as team physicians. The band played in the street during the half. Pandemonium reigned.

It will be done all over again on Nov. 26, only on a much larger and more grandiose scale. All for the benefit of Life Magazine and for the many fans who are sure to attend.

The "Commode Classic" was scheduled for Thanksgiving Day, but was shifted to Sunday to accommodate Life. The magazine is sending in a photographer and a feature writer to cover the game.

IT WILL be played at the Salem Golf Club, the public is invited and hang onto your hat.

The Commode trophy was badly disfigured and slightly melted in the Gordon Leather Shop fire last March. It was in the store, awaiting engraving, when it burned. It has been salvaged, however, and its tragic experience only serves to lend more value to the sought-after bauble.

Preceding the game will be a parade through Salem's downtown section, replete with several floats, two bands, cheerleaders, cars, buses and anything else the inventive minds of Schwartz and Beattie can concoct.

It should be a big day for Salem or, at least a good portion of the community. One thing is sure. There will be a lot of people attend that game, hoping their faces will one day appear in Life.

HE'S HAD ENOUGH BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Nov. 10—(UP)—John Davis, Indiana's defensive halfback, nose when he had enough.

Playing football, his nose has been broken eight times. He has also had it straightened eight times.

Davis now says he'll straighten the nose just once more—when his playing career is through.

Daily Dozen

By BOB DIXON

COACH Johnny Cabas' talk to his prospective players Wednesday afternoon gave the tip-off on the type of team he is after. He wants a ball club that is "all business."

He told the Salem High cagers they "have the opportunity of a lifetime" because they are in the greatest period of their lives and one that can't be relived.

Most of all, Cabas said, he wants players with a "burning desire to win" and players who will maintain high scholastic average. One other thing he seeks eagerly. One other thing he seeks is aggressiveness.

The new Quaker coach is interested in establishing a "farm team" of boys who don't quite make the reserve or varsity squads. This team will be uniformed by the High school and will play in a Memorial building league.

That way, he explained, the coaching staff can keep its eye on the boys and bring any of them up to the school teams if they show improvement.

He promised his cagers plenty of hard work, but told them they will get out of the game just what they put into it. He said he wants each of them to improve every day. "You either go ahead or backslide—there is no stationary period in basketball," he added.

Cabas himself has a business-like approach to the game and he appears to have his plans well organized for the season. If organization will make a good ball club, Salem will have one.

Jimmy Caras, one of the top billiard players in the world, is booked at the Recreation Billiards for an exhibition at 9:30 Monday night. He has been here before and is always entertaining.

Caras is three times world champion at pocket billiards, which he first won in 1936. He won again in 1938 and 1949. Last year he copped both the national and world championships.

If his show goes according to pattern, he will demonstrate the fundamentals of pocket billiards, make some trick shots and show how he pockets rolling balls.

Several fine football players will be making their final appearance for Lisbon High Saturday when the Blue Devils meet Columbus St. Charles.

Coach Bud Bucher will lose Gary Pike, co-captain and quarterback; Dick Truzzi, center; Carl Steitz, halfback; Don Ward, tackle; Henry Siefke, end; Don Small, guard; Tom Pekarchick, guard, and Bill Hough, end.

Texas Coach Will Resign This Year

AUSTIN, Tex., Nov. 10—(AP)—The University of Texas is in the market for a new head football coach—the tenth since it became a member of the Southwest Conference in 1915. Blair Cherry, headman of the Longhorns for four seasons, will retire to the oil business when the current campaign runs its course.

Cherry said yesterday he would resign at the end of the season. He will become associated with his brother, Alton Cherry, of Dallas.

Cherry has three more years on his contract after this. He has been receiving $12,500 a year.

The current Yale football squad has players from 24 states.

Waitkus Gets Comeback Title

Returned To Baseball After Being Wounded

NEW YORK, Nov. 10—(AP)—To Eddie Waitkus, skinny first baseman of the Philadelphia Phillies, goes the title of baseball's "comeback king" of 1950. And it was a story of courage in its rawest form.

The award was not given to Edward Stephen Waitkus because he had hit .284 last summer. Or because he was the best infielding first baseman in the league. Rather, it was given because of his determination to win the biggest battle of all: The battle for life.

It was only 17 months ago that Waitkus tottered on the brink of death, critically wounded by a bullet fired by a crazed girl in Chicago. Few thought he would live, much less play baseball again.

But this blond of Lithuanian ancestry showed them all, even himself.

Waitkus put in four arduous, pain-filled months of conditioning at Clearwater, Fla. At times, he became discouraged, but never gave up.

"Looking back now," Waitkus said later, "they were the four most horrible months of my life. Worse than anything in the Army—worse than New Guinea or anything in the Philippines. The pain was so severe that more than once I found myself wishing that the girl had finished the job."

His reward, however, was a rich one. He lived again to play the only profession he knew—and loved—baseball!

Waitkus edged out Johnny Mize of the New York Yankees in the annual Associated Press poll.

LAST TRAP SHOOT SET The Salem Hunting club will hold a trap shoot at 2 p. m. Sunday at the club grounds. This will be the last shoot before the approaching hunting season and all local sportsmen are invited to attend. Women shooters are invited.

Touch Grid League To Shorten Season

Because of the few remaining days of good weather, the Touch Football League will shorten its final round by eliminating teams after one loss. The second round begins Sunday afternoon.

The winner of the final round will tangle with The Western Stars, who have won the first round. The championship game will be played following completion of the season.

In drawings held Thursday the following teams will be pitted against each other Sunday:

1:00—Northerners vs Hoppes Tires.
2:00—Amvets vs Wattersons.
3:00—Western Stars vs Devil's Grocery.

Boosters Banquet Tickets Go On Sale

Tickets for the 1950 Salem Boosters club banquet, feasting the Salem grid club members, are on sale today with club members.

President Tim Hoppes announced that only 225 tickets will be sold for the Nov. 28 affair. Fans are instructed to buy their tickets early.

Ticket orders may be placed by calling Hoppes at 3508 between 8:30 and 5 each day. Coach Sid Gilman of Cincinnati U is to be the guest speaker.

Barney Hafen studies for a master's degree in physical education at his alma mater, the University of Utah, when he is not playing end for the Detroit Lions.

Bears Have Won 31 Season Tilts In Row

BERKELEY, Calif., Nov. 10—(AP)—Championship standings and Rose Bowl chances will be at stake here tomorrow when the undefeated California Bears and the once-beaten University of California at Los Angeles Bruins clash in their all-important coast conference football classic.

It's the "game of the year" for the two powerful rivals.

A capacity crowd of 81,000 is expected to watch the contest. Traditional rivalry of the keenest sort adds color to the annual encounter. The Bruins were once the "baby brothers" of the Bears. They've grown up long since. Under Henry "Red" Sanders, the former Vanderbilt coach, they have been downright formidable the past two years.

California, which goes into action tomorrow with the only unblemished record in or out of the conference, ranked 6th in this week's Associated Press national poll. U. C. L. A., 19th in the poll, has lost to Washington, 20-21, in the league, and 6-14 to Illinois.

Lynn (Pappy) Waldorf, who left comparative coaching security after twelve years at Northwestern for a job then known as "a coach's graveyard" at California, has become a "wonder man" here. Since his first team in 1947 lost to Southern California, 14-39, portly Pappy has produced two Rose Bowl clubs and hasn't dropped a conference game. The California football slate as of today numbers 21 consecutive league victories and 31 wins in a row for regular season play. The Bears lost Rose Bowl engagements to Ohio State last New Year's Day and to Northwestern, the year before.

Jethroe Elected Rookie-Of-The-Year

NEW YORK, Nov. 10—(AP)—Sam Jethroe, fleet-footed center-fielder of the Boston Braves, reigned today as the National League's rookie of the year.

The speedy Negro flycatcher, who once outraced Olympic sprinter Barney Ewell, drew 11 of the 23 first place votes cast by a committee of the Baseball Writers' Association. One writer failed to vote.

Second place went to young Bob Miller, snappy righthander of the Philadelphia Phillies. Miller, who won eight straight games for the Phils before losing, polled five votes, one more than Pittsburgh's classy shortstop, Danny O'Connell.

Bubba Church, another flashy Phillie righthander, placed fourth with two votes. Chicago Cub third baseman Bill Serena received one vote.

Jethroe promised the home folk he'd hit .300. He failed by 27 points. But his 35 stolen bases led the league. And he pounded out 159 hits, 18 homers and drove across 58 runs. So his .273 batting average doesn't look too bad, after all.

Goshen-Augusta Game Is Cancelled

The football game between Goshen Union High school and Augusta, originally scheduled for McKinley stadium in Sebring Saturday evening, has been cancelled at the request of Augusta because of a player shortage at the latter school.

Augusta coach George Trailey and school superintendent John Miller asked that the game be called off after a rash of injuries in a Monday contest reduced the Augustus squad to 13 men. One of the injuries was serious, ace fullback John Cargill receiving a brain concussion.

The cancellation ends the season for both teams. Goshen Union finishing with a 2-5-1 record and Augusta with 1-5.

Augusta has operated all season with a squad that numbered 18 to 19 players. Three other injuries in addition to Cargill's made the cancellation necessary.

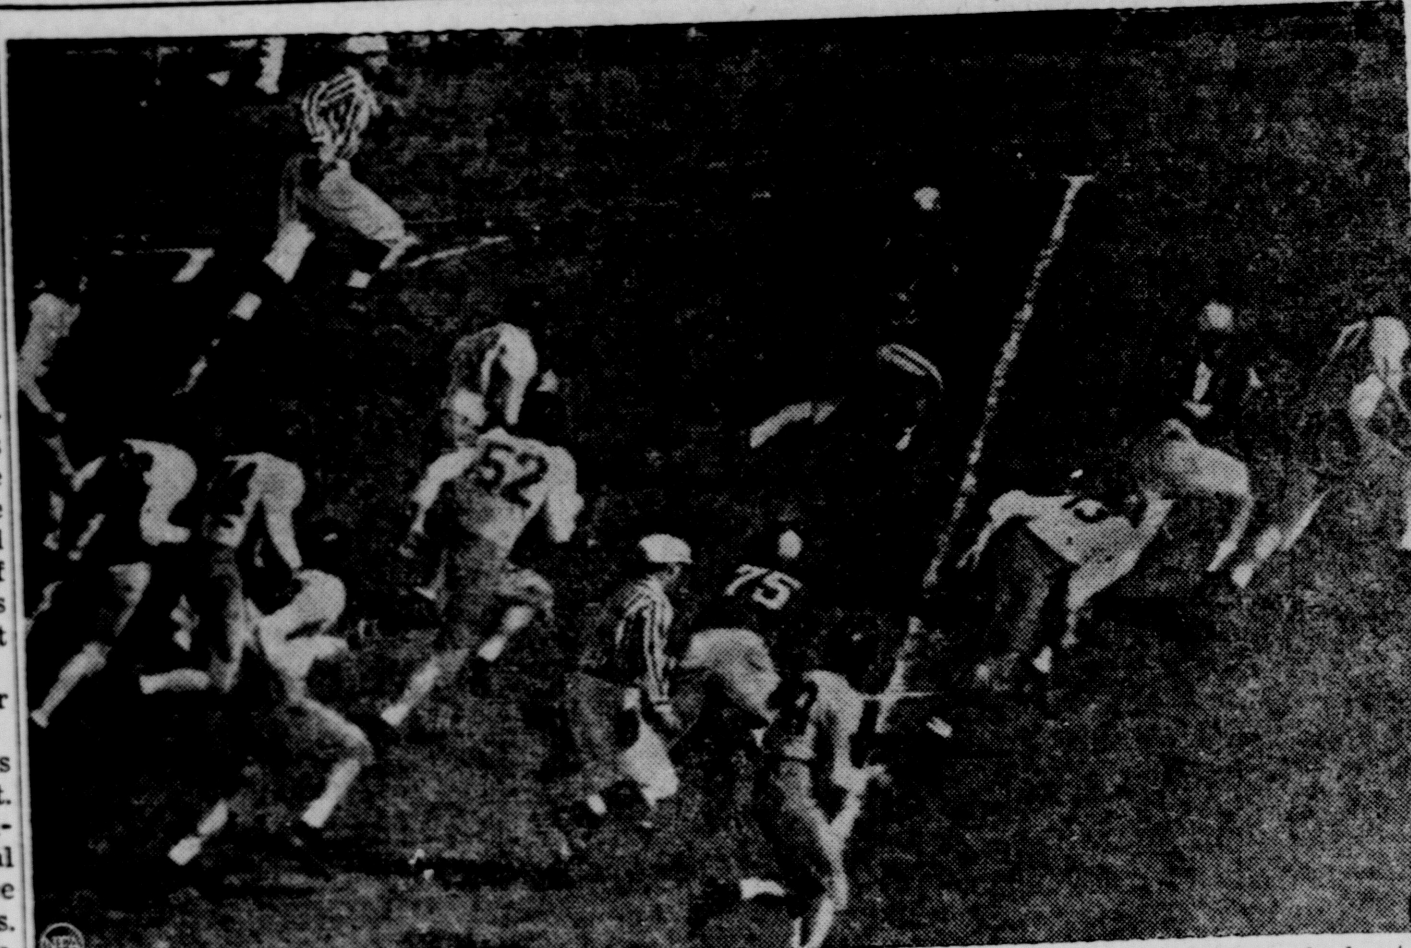

When Syracuse university's cross-country team lost to Manhattan recently, it was its first defeat in 19 dual meets since 1946.

CROSS-COUNTRY—In what looked like the start of a cross-country race for baby elephants, Kansas' Wade Stinson sprinted gaily toward the sideline and a touchdown at Lawrence. No fewer than nine Nebraska players and two officials were behind the Jayhawks' right halfback. Only one blocker remained in front of him.

Alexander Got His Biggest Thrill Back In 1926, Fanning Lazzeri, Beating Yanks

By LAWTON CARVER

NEW YORK, Nov. 10—(INS)—Since the recent death of Grover Cleveland Alexander, comment has been widespread and frequent concerning one phase of the situation that fell after him in 1926, when he pitched the St. Louis Cardinals to victory over the New York Yankees in the World Series.

Some authors of sports news insist that Alexander had been wild-partying at a hilarious rate the night before the seventh game, in which he relieved in the seventh inning and struck out Tony Lazzeri with the bases full of Yankees, to retire the side.

Other historians vehemently stick to the story that he was fit and ready for the assignment that proved to be one of the great and shining highpoints of his wonderful career.

THROUGH THE years stories have been at variance and -id Alex is not around now to lend any further comment. He has been quoted as saying that he told Manager Rogers Hornsby of the Cards after he had pitched and won the sixth game that he would be ready if needed in the final.

Hornsby has been quoted as saying that Alex retired early and was ready to relieve, or some one else would have been called upon. Other stories, seemingly authentic, hold to the more popular version that the Cardinal hurling star was much the worse for a night of wear and tear.

Whatever may be the truth of that particular phase of the situation, it was a dramatic moment as retold by Alexander to Jim Kilgallen, of International News Service, during the last World Series.

Alexander said he was idling on the bench — after having pitched the day before — in that seventh game of 1926, and Jess Haines was on the mound for the Cardinals.

After a few innings, Hornsby said: "Alex, go out to the bull pen."

HE SAID he did not expect to be called upon to pitch. He thought Wee Willie Sherdel would get the call. In the seventh, the phone rang and Hornsby said:

"I want Alexander to go in," much to the surprise of Alexander and the others in the bull pen.

Alexander related that he hitched up his belt and went to the mound without having warmed up in the bull pen. He then threw eight balls in all to retire the side — four warm-up pitches and four strikes.

One of the strikes was the liner which went foul and missed being a base-clearing home run by inches, hit by Lazzeri. He previous-

Olympians Win Over N. Y. Club

Last Quarter Rally Decides Tight Tilt

The Indianapolis Olympians took three periods to warm up, and when they found the New York Knickerbockers leading, 56 to 52, at the end of the third quarter, they decided to take things into their own hands.

The net result found the ex-Kentuckians on the big end of an 85 to 70 score at New York last night. They scored 33 points in that last quarter surge to the New Yorkers' 16 to win going away.

Big Alex Groza, the big-gun of the Indianapolis quintet, was held to nine points, but Bob Lavoy, a rookie brought up from Western Kentucky, scored 24 points to pace the Olympians.

The Nicks, pre-season favorites to win the eastern division crown of the National Basketball Association, still are looking for their first victory. They have lost four in a row.

The surprising Boston Celtics upset George Mikan and the Minneapolis Lakers last night, 76 to 71.

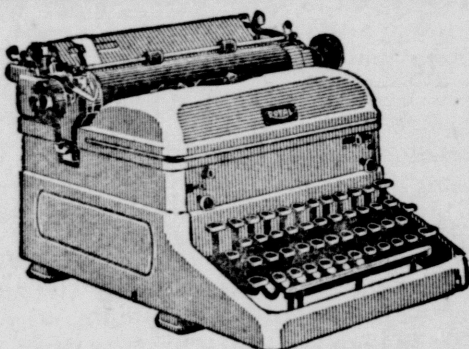

The Syracuse Nationals, top team in the eastern division, knocked over the Tri-Cities Blackhawks, 89 to 70.

ly had pitched two strikes to Lazzeri and then retired the Yankee second baseman with a third strike right down the middle.

As Alexander sat there during the last series talking with Kilgallen, just a month before his death, a wan smile creased his old face as he said:

"And that was just about the biggest kick of my career—stopping the Yankees that day, to win the World Series clincher."

But old Alex didn't say how he was feeling that day.

Presbyterian Group Has Luncheon Party

MRS. Robert T. Wilson and Mrs. Harry Kelly entertained members of the Presbyterian February committee at a dessert luncheon party Wednesday in the Wilson home on N. Ellsworth ave.

Thirteen members and three guests, including Miss Grace Ellenberger, director of Christian Education and Mrs. Maurice Sadler, president of the Women's Association, were present.

A day-by-day account of her two-month sojourn in Europe was told by Mrs. Charles Haldi and she illustrated her interesting story with pictures taken while abroad.

The Thanksgiving chapter from the Bible was used by Mrs. Mabel Riddle for the worship service. She concluded with a prayer poem for the youth of today entitled, "Earnest Prayer." Mrs. Ralph Long, Sr. had charge of the Thank-offering service.

Mrs. A. S. Greenamyer arranged the program and Mrs. Joseph Greenwood conducted the business session. Mrs. Gale Dougherty is the co-chairman of the committee. Announcement was made of the farewell party tonight for Rev. Harold L. Ogden at 8 in the church.

Mrs. Long will plan the Christmas party to be held at 7:30 Wednesday, Dec. 13, at the Greenwood home at 1449 E. State st.

Jean Harry Introduced To Fiance's Friends

Miss Jean Harry of Alliance was introduced to Salem friends of her fiance, Robert S. McCulloch, Jr., at a dinner party Thursday evening given by Mr. and Mrs. C. William Butler.

The Butlers entertained for Miss Harry and Mr. McCulloch in the home of Mrs. Butler's parents on Highland ave. The guest list included 16 married friends of the groom-to-be.

The buffet table, lighted by tall white tapers in crystal, was beautifully appointed with a white linen cloth and a center arrangement of gold and brown marigolds.

The Harry-McCulloch nuptials will be an event of Wednesday, Nov. 10, in the Alliance First Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Rothfuss Hostess

A. F. N. E. club associates were guests of Mrs. Herman Rothfuss Thursday evening at her home, W. Seventh st. After the "500" games the hostess served lunch. Mrs. Harry Bush of Park ave has invited the members to meet with her Nov. 30.

425 At Banquet

More than 425 persons attended the benefit sponsored by the Methodist Women's Society of Christian Service Thursday evening in the church. Mrs. C. H. Waldron is president of the organization. Various groups of the organization assisted.

TO CONDUCT DEVOTIONS

Dennis Varian will conduct the devotions at a meeting of the Junior Mission group of Emmanuel Lutheran church at 2 p. m. Saturday in the parish house. The thank offering service will be held in connection with this meeting. Danny Weber and Linda Whiskey will serve refreshments.

Mrs. Loretta Z. Jessup, who spent the summer at Lake Seaview, has gone to St. Petersburg, Fla., to spend the winter.

Lausche Formally Proclaims Holiday

COLUMBUS, Nov. 10—(INS)—Governor Lausche today formally proclaimed Nov. 23 as Thanksgiving Day in Ohio.

Gov. Lausche urged in his proclamation that "every citizen take time to offer prayerful appreciation to the God of us all. Through His most liberal bounty, the people of the United States and America and the State of Ohio enjoy rich abundance and great prosperity."

Gov. Lausche contrasted "the freedom and liberty which individuals enjoy in this country" with that in areas where "Godless tyrants, ruthlessly deny personal rights and rule innocent people with cruelty and harshness."

Search Woods For Missing Warren Man

GREENVILLE, Pa., Nov. 10—(AP)—State police and townspeople renewed their search of dense woods near here today for a 55-year-old hunter from Warren, O., who has been missing since Tuesday night.

James Edward Wishart went into the woods seven miles northeast of Greenville to hunt raccoons. His dog and his locked car were found alongside a highway near the hunting area.

Urges G.O.P. Caucus

CINCINNATI, Nov. 10—(AP)—A meeting of some of the newly elected members of the U. S. senate in Washington, Nov. 27, was suggested by Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio).

DROPS GUN, KILLED

MANSFIELD, Nov. 10—Mrs. Arthur S. Glatke—wife of the chief of Ohio's penal corrections division—died of a bullet wound that was self-inflicted accidentally, Coroner D. C. Lavender said today.

Glatke said his wife moved his .32 caliber pistol aside to reach for her jewelry box in a closet. The gun slipped from her hand and discharged as it fell to the floor, he added.

JIMMY ROGERS, piano impressionist, who will provide the feature act during intermissions at the Male Quartet Contest Monday, Nov. 20 at the High School auditorium, will come to Salem from a four-week tour of eastern cities.

Yesterday he told Junior Chamber of Commerce committees who are arranging the event, he will include several numbers in his new cafe society style in his part of the program.

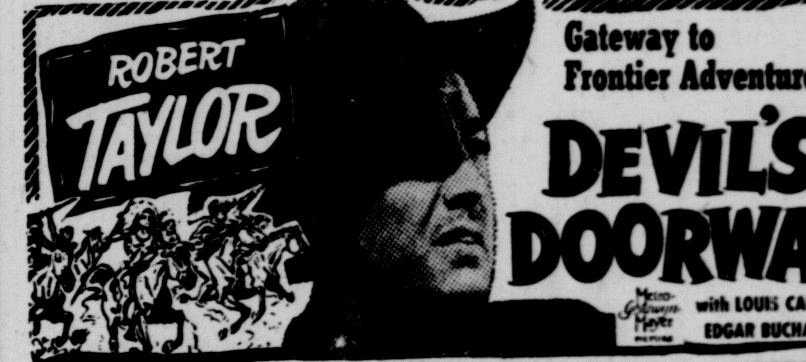

Eight barbershop quartets, several of them contest champions, will provide the main part of the show, a benefit for the Jaycees childrens Christmas party. Tickets are on sale at Heddlon's, Lease's, Bloomberg's; Well's in Columbiana, Roose's in Leetonia, Morgan's in Lisbon, and by Salem Jaycee members.
